STUDY OF PROGRESS AND POVERTY.

To the Editor of the Times:

Sir,—I have read with some interest two editorials in your paper, in the issues of May 1st and June 6th, to which you in a very peculiar way called the attention of the public to the doctrines of Henry George. I trust that you are liberal enough to grant a criticism in your paper upon these articles by a single tax man. In your first article you plainly state that "speaking for ourselves we are free to confess that we have never given Henry George attentive study. We may say indeed that we have scarcely given him a superficial glance." Judging from your articles, I think you told the truth. The fact that you confessed your inability to write upon the subject saved the public from being imposed upon by misrepresentation. You lead the public to believe that Mr. George and his followers advocated a division of wealth; that is, to take from the rich and give to the poor. Mr. George and his followers have never advocated such a foolish scheme.

In Social Problems, chapter ninth, under the head of first principles, Mr. George says: "Nor yet could we accomplish any permanent equalization in the distribution of wealth were we to forcibly take from those who have and give to those who have not. We would do great injustice. We would do great harm, but from the very moment of such a forced equalization, the tendencies which show themselves in the present unjust inequalities would begin to assist themselves again, and we would in a little while have as gross inequalities as before. What we must do, if we would cure social disease and avert social danger, is to remove the causes that prevent the just distribution of wealth." And again, he says: "I wish to emphasize this point for there are those who constantly talk or write as though whoever finds fault with the present distribution of wealth were demanding that the rich should be spoiled for the benefit of the poor; that the idle should be taken care of at the expense of the industrious, and that a false and impossible equality should be created, which by reducing every one to the same dead level would destroy all incentive to excel and bring progress to a halt. In the re-action from the glaring injustice of present social conditions, such wild schemes have been proposed and still find advocates. But to my way of thinking they are as impracticable and repugnant as they seem to be to those who are the loudest in their denunciation of Communism." In your first article you misrepresent Mr. George's theory when you say that "Henry George's theory in a nutshell is an endeavor to bolster up the weak and the worthless by circumscribing energy." The passage that I have quoted fairly represents the tenor of his theory. So you can see that your article was totally misleading, for your statements attach to his theory those pernicious and foolish ideas that Mr. George so ably combats. I was somewhat surprised to see you descend to so low a plane of journalism, that plane where carelessness and ignorance combine to speak against righteous principles and denounce honest men in their endeavor to lift society to a higher moral level. In view of the foregoing I would desire you to study the works of Mr. George before you again risk the reputation of your paper by offering to the public a criticism upon a subject that you "have scarcely given a superficial glance."

Your last article takes the form of advice to all believers in the single tax. You must be a clever student. On the first of May you declare to the world that you know nothing about Mr. George's theory and on the sixth of June you pose as a master advising single tax men to isolate themselves on the Sandwich Islands as a test of their "radical" principles. You also misrepresent the single tax doctrines by your inferences, that is, that we disregard the sacred right of property. You say "that the idea is deeply imbued in men that what they earn is their own, and particularly if it pertain to the soil." That is the very principle for which we are working. What a man makes is his, and particularly that value attached to land which is the earning of the whole community and belongs to those who make it, but not to a select few. In speaking of the distribution of wealth, Mr. George says: "As to what is the natural distribution of wealth there can be no dispute. It is that which gives wealth to him who makes it and secures wealth to him who saves it." And again he says: "This and this alone is what I contend for—that our social institutions be conformed to justice, to those eternal principles of right that are so obvious that no one can deny or dispute them, so obvious that by a law of the human mind even those who try to defend social injustice must invoke them. This and this alone I contend for, that he who makes should have; that he who saves should enjoy. I ask nothing in behalf of the poor which properly belongs to the rich. Instead of weakening and confusing the idea of property I would surround it with stronger sanctions. Instead of lessening the incentive to production of wealth, I would make it more powerful by making the reward more certain. Whatever any man has added to the common stock of wealth or has received of the free will of him who did produce it, let that be his as against all the world; his to use or to give, to do with it whatever he may please, so long as such use does not interfere with the equal freedom of others. For my part, I would put no limit on acquisition. No matter how many millions any man ever got by methods which do not invoke the robbery of others, they are his; let him have them. I would not even ask him for charity, or have it dinned into his ears that it is his duty to help the poor. This is his own affair. Let him do as he pleases with his own without restriction and without taking from others and uses without hurting others, what he does with his wealth is his own business and his own responsibility." This ought to teach those a lesson who are continually talking about single tax men as though they had no regard for the rights of property. With respect to your advice to single tax men in recommending them to purchase some available spot and there make a test of their principles, I would say that while we are extremely thankful to you for your original advice and your professed care over this band of innovators, who advance such strange "and radical doctrines," we can't accept your advice. We propose to stop at home. You can't get rid of us so summarily as to banish us from home and friends to some isolated corner of the earth where we could meet only those of our own ideas. How would it do to advise all prohibitionist to follow the same idea; just retire to some quiet spot where none but prohibitionists could live. How would such advice have been accepted by the early abolitionists of chattel slavery. Their doctrines were radical and very unpopular, but they were right and ultimately triumphed, as ours will some day. Those early abolitionists were ridiculed, belittled and persecuted, because they told the truth. But they triumphed, and in after time monuments were erected by their former persecutors as a lasting testimony to the heroic efforts of a few men imbued with the eternal principles of justice who, amid the storms of ignorance, passion and greed, gallantly fought for human liberty.

In this reform we purpose to stop at home and by all honorable means to educate the masses and thus place them in a position where it will be impossible for political quack doctors to gull them. Our text book is "Progress and Poverty." This is not a book for those whose minds are poisoned with an inordinate desire for wealth, nor is it a book for those whose minds are obtused by degrading poverty. It appeals to those who appreciate the golden rule, the law of Christ, to those who know that there are even in this world higher spheres of action than those based upon the mere accumulation of wealth; to those who have caught a gleam of a higher civilization, where crime, poverty and oppression shall have become the dark topics of a bygone history; and in which men can love their neighbors as themselves and worship God in purity of heart and not be selfish through poverty or the fear of poverty. This is a thinking age. Men are busily at work spreading the gospel of common right to the earth. In a short time the question will be before the people of this country. What are the newspapers going to do in regard to the matter? How about our politicians? Are they prepared to discuss this land question according to the dynamics of the new political economy? The schools are at work; books are being read. Are the politicians aware of it? Workingmen will soon demand stronger food than the usual illicit cant used by politicians to allure the illiterate working classes. What are the preachers going to do? Have they seen that the Eighth Commandment is violated by the monopoly of land? If they are not aware of it, the workingmen are (at least some are), and if the preachers don't speak the workingmen will demand a reason, and then perchance they will be marched in line as they were in the days of the anti-slavery movement, that is after the question became popular. Already one text-book is printed in five different languages. Our principles are spreading far and wide. Our line of march has no limit save the limit of the earth. We work for all and with all, regardless of color, creed, or nationality. We work for the disinherited of the world, and our watchword is truth. In our search for that watchword we have found that beneath all and above all is a law stronger than human action—it is the law of God.

B. H. West.

WE HAVE BEEN THERE, ELI!

To the Editor of The Times:

Sir—I feel that Eli Perkins, vide Colonist of this date, is in danger of falling into an error common to most Eastern people, when entering this Western land, of supposing that the old settlers are necessarily far behind in a general knowledge of the world's social and political happenings. New comers are prone to forget that British Columbia was early peopled, for the most part, by a roving, mining population, who had been on the road since they were boys, who had heard all the bear stories and had personally witnessed the many thrilling scenes depicted in Western life, the telling of which was, and is, so entertaining to those still around the family hearth stone. These scenes and stories have become so common place to British Columbians that a failure to "enthuse" is often mistaken by persons green, or rather I should say, fresh from their childhood's home, for dullness. The Tacoma waitress is many years old. Give us your latest, Eli!

Citizen.

The Government Scored.

A Revelstoke gentleman, who has visited the Toad Mountain district, has inspired the Donald Truth to say: It made my cheeks blush with shame when, time after time, the Americans I met pointed with contempt at our provincial and federal government, culpable lethargy in regard to this rich mineral country, and said, "If it was only a part of our country you would have had a city by this time at Nelson, and a thousand tons of ore would be taken out daily from these camps." I could only say I felt keenly it was too true, but I hoped they would soon be brought to a sense of their duty. What are the boards of trade of Vancouver and Victoria doing to allow this rich trade to be taken from them? Soon a railway will take the place of the wagon road from Kootenay station to Bonner's Ferry, and already a railway is under construction, to be completed by November, from Spokane Falls to Little Dalles on the Columbia; commercial travellers from the former city are already canvassing for the trade of our mining camps. Where is the vaunted enterprise of our great Canadian transatlantic railway that is carelessly allowing this immense source of rich traffic to cross the border and find its rival, the Northern Pacific? Why, at the outside, it would only cost $2,000,000 to build and equip a line 85 miles in length, from Revelstoke south by the east arm of Arrow lake and thence down the Lardo valley to the north end of Kootenay lake, admitted by all who have gone over the ground to be one of the easiest mountain roads to build conceivable. The most experienced miners I met say I am within the mark when I state, that before two years have elapsed after the construction of that line, 1000 tons of ore per day will be carried over the line if there are smelting works at Revelstoke and Vancouver to handle the ore, which at the rate of $5 a ton would yield an annual gross revenue of $1,500,000 for this branch alone, besides an immense passenger and supply traffic. Which of all the branches of the C. P. R. east will be such a feeder to the main line? Then it would carry base bullion over its whole line, en route to Swansea, Wales, for refining, or lead to Vancouver, and thence to Yokohama and Hongkong, bringing back the manufactured food and clothing from the east and from the west for the population employed.

Fair Cigarette Smoker.

To Mme. Modjeska is due the credit of overcoming the prejudice of society to syrup-sweetened cigarettes. Like La Princess Engaletchieff, she had smoked since she was a young lady, and when she came to this country and allowed herself to be feted and feasted and petted by Western aristocracy it was only on condition that she should have the same freedom as at home. After the long and heavy dinners she retired to her rooms and thought nothing of consuming an entire package of tissue-rolled tobacco. At first society was content to look on; later it admired the ease, grace and enjoyment of the soft-voiced, sad-eyed lady, and after trial came habit until now there are whole families on the visiting list of the Polish artist, where mothers and daughters are votaries of the weed.

Inland Timber.

Donald Truth says that Edward Adair, foreman for Dan Robinson, is back from a cruising trip down the Columbia as far as Surprise rapids, some 85 miles below Donald. He reports seeing splendid timber, some of the white pines being 60 inches through, and from which five and six logs could be cut free from knots. There are also Douglas firs in that locality that measure fully ten feet in diameter. On the trip Mr. Adair killed four bears.

The Columbia River Lumber Company has bush-foreman Moore looking the ground over, across the river from Donald, for a logging camp. The company expects to take out between two and three million feet this summer and will employ 35 men in the work.

GENERAL DISPATCHES.

Terrible Railway Accident in Ireland—Over One Hundred Killed.

The Alaska Boundary—Johnstown Sufferers—The Cronin Case.

By Postal Telegraph.]

London, June 10—Advices from Rome to-day indicate that the Pope is still greatly depressed over the demonstration yesterday at the unveiling of the Bruno memorial. Speaking to one of the officials of the Vatican to-day, he said the event of yesterday was even sadder than were those of 1870, when only the temporal power of the Pope was attacked. Yesterday's demonstration was an attempt to destroy the spiritual authority, the only power now left him.

CANADIAN DESPERADO CAPTURED.

Augusta, Me., June 11—Pinkerton men passed down the upper Kennebec Valley on Sunday, having in charge a French-Canadian named Dufac, chief of a gang of Canadian desperadoes frequenting the Moose river wilderness, and for whose arrest the Dominion government offered a large reward. Dufac's chief crimes were the raiding of the settlement of St. Francis with his band, setting fire to numerous barns, the killing of an old man, and the stealing of several horses, including a valuable stallion owned by a government official.

AFFAIRS IN JOHNSTOWN.

Johnstown, June 12—A new administration took charge this morning and the different camps present an animated appearance. Big squads of men, some with flags, are parading around. The day opened with the usual rain, which promises to continue throughout the day. The Baltimore and Ohio depot is surrounded with big crowds of men waiting to receive their money. About 500 men are at work this morning. Trains on the Pennsylvania road now arrive and depart from the regular passenger station. The broken track over the bridge is fully repaired. Some bodies recovered are so badly decomposed that the skin breaks and the hair falls off while being washed by the undertakers. None are embalmed. New bodies when first recovered are saturated with disinfectants and brought to the morgue where their clothing is cut off and valuables preserved. A description is then taken after which the remains are wrapped in muslin and coffined immediately and taken away for burial. Request is made that mayors of all cities and towns along the rivers between Pittsburg and New Orleans should send description of any bodies they may find in the river to General Hastings at Johnstown. Permanent headquarters are established in the Pennsylvania railroad freight warehouse. It is stated General Hastings is considering the advisability of ordering out the 18th regiment to release the 14th regiment now doing guard and police duty.

TRIAL FOR MURDER.

Salem, Or., June 12—The trial of A. P. Beardsley charged with murder, began yesterday. Defendant killed Thomas L. Pennyman at Eola, Polk Co., March 14th last. The jury was secured late in the afternoon and the case attracts much attention.

A GOOD LAW.

Modesto, Cal., June 12—The Board of Trustees of Modesto county passed an ordinance prohibiting the sale of opium, cigarettes or tobacco in any form to persons under 18. The penalty for violation is fixed at five and not to exceed $100 and imprisonment of not more than 10 days.

THE CRONIN CASE.

Chicago June 12—The special grand jury selected by Sheriff Matson, in obedience to the order of Judge Shepard to investigate the Cronin tragedy, were empannelled in the criminal court at 11 o'clock. Only two Irishmen were on the panel. In addressing the jury, Judge Shepard said he expected a full, exhaustive and impartial investigation of the murder.

SURVEY PARTY FOR ALASKA.

San Francisco, June 12—The steamer Bertha, leaves for Alaska on Monday with a surveying party which will establish the new boundary line of the territory.

FROM THE BAY CITY.

San Francisco, June 12.—Colonel Fred Crocker will leave for Vancouver Island on Saturday evening to inspect coal mines in British Columbia in which the Southern Pacific Railway is interested.

The election and annual meeting of the Oregon Navigation Co. and a thorough canvass of the Union Pacific will be held at Portland on July 17th.

Col. Theophilus Masac, President of Lower California Mining Co., with other officials of the company leave for San Diego to-day. Yesterday afternoon contracts with a Chinese syndicate in the city were signed which provide that the Chinese shall invest $60,000 in improvements within the next six months. They are also to assume all outstanding obligations and to pay all taxes on the property. Within two years they must erect reduction works and two-thirds of the product of the mines must be reduced on Mexican soil. By July 1st from 150 to 200 Chinese laborers from this city will be taken to the mines. A second instalment of from 500 to 1000 coolies will follow in the fall. The price paid for the mines is $328,000.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT.

Dublin, June 12—An excursion train containing a large number of passengers was thrown from the track near Armagh this morning and the cars reduced to splinters. It is stated that fifty children were killed. The train was filled with Methodist Sunday school children who with relations and teachers were on their way to Warren Park. Upwards of one hundred persons were killed.

A Miner's License.

Up in British Columbia the Mineral Act requires miners to pay a license, and the miners of Kootenay district petitioned the Legislative Assembly to repeal the section bearing on this, but that body did not pay any attention to it.

Moreover, the following amendment to the Mineral Act has been passed: "Every person engaged in mining for minerals other than coal, shall take out a free miners' certificate, and any person who mines, or works for wages or works for wages as a miner in any mining claim, or on any bed-rock flume, bed-rock drain or ditch, without having taken out and obtained such license, shall on conviction thereof in a summary way, forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding twenty-five dollars besides costs."

This seems to be an absurd arrangement, especially as other working men do not have to obtain a license to do their work. The policy is a poor one by which to develop the mineral resources of any country. When it is more settled and developed, any industry may be able to stand such restrictions; but while they are trying to open new districts and mines, and induce capital to come in, measures as this retard the whole business.

If the laws now in vogue concerning gravel mining in California, had been enforced 30 years ago, before agricultural or quartz-mining possibilities of the State were known, we would not have one-tenth the population we now have, and California would be more that thirty years behind its present condition.

The British Columbia people cannot afford to call for such an unjust and foolish license tax, on a class which is productive and engaged in developing material resources.—Mining and Scientific Press, San Francisco, May 4.

SUPPRESSION OF BOULANGISTS.

The Evolution of Popular Government as they Work it out.

Paris, June 11—There was an exciting meeting in the Chamber of Deputies to-day, when M. Seguin presented his interpolation on the subject of the action of the Angouleme authorities in suppressing the Boulangist meeting on Sunday. M. Seguin in his speech was very bitter in his denunciation of the Government. He said that the violence of the Government officials had aroused a strong feeling in the masses, and that the people were wrought up to such a pitch of indignation that they refused to be terrorized. He warned the Government that their tyrannical measures would prove unavailing and that the people would persist in exercising the undoubted rights of freemen, despite the attempt to deprive them of their liberties. M. Constans, Minister of the Interior, replied to M. Seguin. He said that the action of the authorities at Angouleme was entirely justifiable. Deroulede, the deputy whom they arrested, had assaulted the Commissary of Police, and the official only performed his duty in taking him into custody. The other deputies who were arrested had also interfered with the police while engaged in the discharge of their duty. If, as was threatened, the malcontents at Angouleme persisted in attempts to hold unlawful meetings, the government would send police there. At this point M. Laur, deputy for the department of the Loir, interrupted the speaker, and in an excited manner shouted: "Just try and send your police to interfere with me. I will blow the brains out of the first one who approaches me." This caused a great uproar, in which deputies of all shades of political took a hand, and for a time the chamber became perfect pandemonium. The Boulangist deputies were most demonstrative in their efforts to make themselves heard above the prevailing confusion, and M. M. Laur, Dorcane and Brituil had to be called to order by the chair. When a semblance of order had been restored, M. Constants proceeded with his speech and amid the vociferous cheers of the Left, stated the Government would deal most severely with such disturbers as these of Angouleme.

BRUNO'S STATUE

Unveiled at Rome with Great Ceremony—A Procession of 30,000.

Rome, June 11.—The statue of Bruno was unveiled Saturday with imposing ceremonies. Thirty thousand persons, including students and deputations from various parts of Italy marched in the procession through the principal streets. The removal of the canvas covering the statue was the signal for deafening cheers. The ceremonies were witnessed by the Syndic of Rome, government officials and a large number of senators and deputies.

Deputy Bovio, in his oration, eulogized the martyr, and declared that to-day there was born a religion of free thought and liberty of conscience which would be worse for the papacy than the loss of temporal power. The proceedings throughout were orderly.

The memory of Garibaldi was honored with imposing ceremony to-day.

THE POPE DISTRESSED.

The Pope is much distressed. It is reported he refuses to see anybody and has passed three days absorbed in prayer in his private chapel. Four hundred telegrams have arrived at the Vatican, deploring the unveiling of the Bruno monument. All the ambassadors accredited to the Vatican met this evening in the Pope's chapel.

King Humbert has congratulated the ministry on the absence of disorder.

Giordano Bruno was born at Nola, near Naples, about the middle of the sixteenth century. He was burnt at the stake in Rome, February 17, 1600. Bruno was a philosopher, whose ideas were no more acceptable to the Calvinists than to the Catholics. His attacks on the philosophy of Aristotle was especially bitter. In Rome he was imprisoned for seven years, tried, degraded, excommunicated and finally handed over to the civil power by which he was sentenced to death. Bruno was a man of great mental activity and boldness of thought. In his system there was but one fundamental principal, one substance, whose existence is real and original. God and the universe are identical, the universe is infinite. From the narrow sphere of common life man ought to arise to a conception of his relation to the universe and of the affinity of his spiritual body to the universal intellect.

Best Paying Crop in California.

Some time ago a Canadian gentleman was visiting Southern California, and thought he would invest in a little land. A Yankee land speculator showed him a lot of hungry, barren, worthless soil, and asked him an enormous price for the same. The Canadian looked at the land in astonishment, and at last exclaimed, with a good deal of emphasis, "What on earth could a man ever raise here?" "Raise!" replied the Yankee; "raise! Why, you can raise the price."

LATE RAILWAY ACCIDENT.

FROM OTTAWA.

Contract for the Orient Line Almost Perfected—Alien Law.

Special to The Times.]

Ottawa, June 12.—W. B. Anderson, of the Orient Steamship Line, was closeted all day with Foster, Sir Thompson and Haggart, in regard to the mail steamship line. A basis of arrangement was agreed on, but details are yet to be decided. The speed will be less than twenty knots, and it will take some time, however, before the contract is completed.

The sub collector of customs at Rockport, Leeds County, reports to the department here that the United States Government have put the Alien Labor Law in force at Alexandria Bay against Canadians who are employed as carsmen and care-takers of American islands. Considerable feeling is also aroused over Canadians being returned from New York State.

NEW WESTMINSTER.

Sale of Government Lands by Auction—Public Meeting.

Special to The Times.]

New Westminster, June 12—A largely attended meeting of citizens was held in the City Hall last evening for the purpose of giving all parties concerned a opportunity of expressing an opinion on the Coquitlam Water Works by-law. Mayor Hendry occupied the chair. After a lengthy discussion a resolution was passed endorsing the action of the City Council with respect to the scheme. Voting on the by-law takes place to-morrow.

Auction sale of 1120 acres of land situated on Lulu Island took place in this city to-day. The average price obtained was about $10 per acre.

SUPREME COURT.

(Before the Chief Justice and a Special Jury.)

June 11, 1889.

Mrs. Hannah Warren vs. J. Boscowitz.

This was an issue directed to be tried to determine whether Mrs. Warren purchased the steamship Barbara Boscowitz at auction on the 18th February, 1886.

The hearing of the case occupied four days.

Late last evening the jury brought in the following verdict: "The jury find that there was no bona fide sale of the steamer Barbara Boscowitz to the plaintiff, Hannah Warren."

Mr. Taylor appeared for Mrs. Warren and Mr. Theodore Davie, instructed by Mr. Hett for Mr. Boscowitz.

NANAIMO CRICKET CLUB.

The Nanaimo Cricket club was finally organized on Tuesday night by the election of the following officers: President, S. M. Robins; vice-president, Mr. Haslem; treasurer, Mr. Rudd; secretary, Mr. Armfelt; a financial and a field committee were also appointed.

A Frenchman This Time.

Near the first safety switch six miles east of Field a gang of men are at work getting out ties for the C. P. R. Lamonte, one of the tie cutters, spent Sunday the 9th inst., in Field returning to the camp the same evening. He had been drinking heavily and was far from sober on Monday morning, at which time he tried unsuccessfully to induce the engineer of a light engine that was passing to take him to Field. About 20 minutes later the Pacific express was seen coming slowly down the grade, which is very heavy at this point. Lamonte made an effort to board the train as it passed and failing his footing was found a moment later lying on the track with both legs off. Medical assistance was procured from Banff as speedily as possible, but no hopes were entertained for the poor fellow's recovery. An Icelander was injured in the same manner some distance further east a week or two ago.

Divorced and Married.

In the Halifax divorce court Saturday, the 1st inst., Judge James granted an absolute divorce to Ella M. Pyke from C. M. Pyke, an actor, now living in San Francisco, on the ground of desertion and adultery. Pyke thus being free from the fetters that bound him to his first love, was immediately married to Martha Lancaster, the "Louise Manfred" of the lyric stage, at Martinez, Cal., the event occurring on the 1st inst. also.

Howard Crouch, a young man of New Brunswick, N. J., aspired to be a swell. So he ate half a pound of dried apples and drank four glasses of ice water. The doctors saved his life by hard work and powerful emetics.

LAND EXCHANGE.

There is one feature in the discussion taking place in the press, with reference to the proposed exchange of land owned by the Dominion Government in the forty mile railway belt on the mainland, for land owned by the province in the Peace river country near the eastern boundary of the province, which is worth more than a passing notice, as indicating how dangerous it is to place the government of a country in the hands of incompetent and unscrupulous men. It is claimed by the Provincial Government that because the legislature passed a bold resolution in 1887, affirming the opinion that it was desirable to make an exchange of the lands indicated, that therefore they are fully empowered to absolutely make the exchange. Nothing could be more mischievous or subversive of the constitutional rights of the people, for the only manner in which the Government can legally dispose of provincial land is under the authority of acts passed by the legislature; and the legislature can only consider acts for the disposal of land which have first been recommended by a message from the Lieut.-Governor. In this case, so far, nothing of the kind has taken place. The legislature simply passed an abstract resolution. It is a well known principle that even a definite resolution of the legislature is effete if in opposition to existing statutory law, and does not in any way change it, and the simple fact that Mr. SEMLIN, a private member of the House, moved the resolution, shows that he could not authorize the disposal of one acre of land, even with the aid of a full and unanimous House, in the absence of the other formalities the constitution requires.

If a competent and honest government were in power in the province such sudden terror as the people periodically experience of being plundered would not take place, but the history of the past few years shows that statutes and constitutional rights are of no value when they obstruct or stand in the way, and people who realize this fact become very properly alarmed when any new deal is contemplated. If the Legislature was composed of men who would censure any government that trampled upon the constitutional rights of the people, the danger would be a minimum, and we observe with satisfaction that Mr. D. W. HIGGINS, M. P. P. for Esquimalt, has publicly indicated his determination to cast himself adrift from the whitewashing business.

THE ALASKAN BOUNDARY.

The Colonist's Ottawa correspondent informs the readers of that paper that "considerable surprise is expressed in official circles at the evidence given by Mayor GRANT, in reference to the Alaska boundary, before the Senate Committee of the United States during a recent visit to Victoria." The reason assigned by the correspondent for the "considerable surprise" is a new and original one. In fact its originality is its only virtue. The United States Government, it is said, "has been making strenuous efforts" to convince Canada that the boundary line as prescribed by the treaty of St. Petersburg was impracticable and undefinable, "in the hope that the subject would be reopened and a rearrangement made more favorable to the United States, and Mayor GRANT is charged with having furnished "just the very kind of evidence" wanted by the United States and which that government has been trying to secure without success. Ottawa special correspondents have a continental reputation for extravagance of statement, but as a general thing their absurdities are telegraphed to American newspapers, which unfortunately for both countries give them publicity. Our contemporary's special, we regret to see, is following in the footsteps of his enterprising confreres, and during the summer drought at the capital has resorted to the manufacture of news. "Anything to beat GRANT" has been the policy of the Colonist management for some years, and it is not a matter for surprise that the employee should at least have learnt the habits of his employer.

Mayor Grant furnished the United States commission with no "evidence." True, he explained to the committee his views on the boundary question, and made suggestions as to what, to his mind, was the most practical and the cheapest method to locate the line whenever the two countries concluded to enter upon the work of permanently establishing, by survey, the boundary between the southern strip of Alaska and British Columbia. If any "surprise" has been expressed in Ottawa official circles, the Ottawa officials are, on this as on many other questions, profoundly ignorant of the facts. The question is not a new one, nor yet one that either country need be afraid to re-open. Never having been closed, it is still open, and unless Mayor GRANT's suggestion be adopted it will probably remain open for ever, as the cost of determining the line as provisionally fixed by the treaty between Russia and England would be too great—if, indeed, such a survey as it would render necessary is not wholly impracticable—to justify either country in advocating it. The Ottawa correspondent, ill-informed as usual on British Columbia affairs, fancies that he has found something new. Mayor Grant has repeatedly expressed himself in the Legislature to the same effect as he did to the commission. In the session of 1886, the following resolution, moved by Mr. Grant and seconded by Mr. Helgeson, was carried unanimously:

That whereas by the Convention or Treaty of 1825 between Great Britain and Russia, the line of demarcation between the possessions of the High Contracting Parties on the north west of North America was agreed upon as follows, viz: "That wherever the summit of the mountains which extend in a direction parallel to the coast from the 56th degree of north latitude to the point of intersection of the 141st degree of west longitude, shall prove to be at a distance of more than 10 marine leagues from the ocean, the limit between the British possessions and the line of the coast, which is to belong to Russia as abovementioned, shall be formed by a line parallel to the windings of the coast, and which shall never exceed the distance of 10 marine leagues therefrom."

And, whereas, that portion of North America which belonged to Russia in A. D. 1825 is now under the flag of the United States of America;

Therefore be it Resolved, That a respectful address be presented to His Honor the Lieutenant Governor, praying that he will move the Dominion Government to represent to the Imperial Government the necessity of opening negotiations with the Government of the United States of America, with a view of establishing a more desirable line of demarcation than that laid down in the before cited treaty.

When speaking to the motion, Mr. Grant proposed that certain points along the present provincial boundary be mutually fixed by both governments, and that between these points straight lines should be run. Instead of a boundary following the sinuosities of what is probably the most sinuous coast in the world, Mr. GRANT simply proposes straight lines from point to point. When Sir JOHN MACDONALD was in Victoria a few years ago, Mr. GRANT, in the course of a conversation with the Premier, made precisely the same suggestion. What was said to the Senate committee the other day was a repetition of what had been suggested to Sir JOHN, and of speeches made in the local legislature. Mayor GRANT has given the subject much attention, as it was his duty to do, since the district he represents (Cassiar) is contiguous to Alaska. The boundary line question must soon be approached, and settled too, upon a basis satisfactory to both countries. The talk about the American Government wanting it re-opened in order that by diplomacy they might get an advantage, is cheap newspaper twaddle that could only originate in Ottawa, and the silly charge that Mayor GRANT was conspiring with the Americans—for that is what it amounts to—to rob British Columbia of some territory, could only find expression through the columns of the Colonist.

NEW SEATTLE.

The new Seattle will be a finer, better and more beautiful city than the old. The fire, which swept the business portion of the city out of existence, will prove to have been not an unmixed evil. The citizens have determined not to permit the erection of wooden buildings within the fire limits. Formerly, it appears, that although there were "fire limits," it was possible to obtain "permits" from some one in authority to erect wooden shells for special purposes, a privilege which was too frequently abused, as it always is where discretionary power is given to depart from a recognized policy. The new Seattle will be made of brick, stone and iron; the principal street will be widened to ninety feet, new grades will be established, and as far as possible all the mistakes of the past will be avoided. The spirits of the people are more buoyant and hopeful than ever before. Their loss was a great one, but it might have been more severe. The homes of the city remain.

A BIT OF HISTORY.

English history scarcely presents a more pathetic figure than MARY STUART, nor a more imperious queen than ELIZABETH. History records these things with painful fidelity, and we turn from the perusal of the careers of these two women with mingled feelings of disgust and sorrow. Sympathy undoubtedly goes out for MARY. Passing her in review from this distance, untroubled with the prejudices, religious and political, of the age in which she lived, while we deplore her frailty we cannot subscribe to the deep damnation of her taking off. We can understand that ELIZABETH's motives in signing MARY's death warrant arose from a high sense of public policy, but when we remember that the former was dubious of her legitimacy, imperious and jealous-hearted withal, we find it impossible to offer much in her extenuation. MARY has had her champions, but we have never read them. HUME is our authority, and his analysis of the episode which stained ELIZABETH's reign leaves both queens in a bad plight. Nor does MARY STUART on the stage much tend to assist the spectator to form an unbiased opinion of the merits of the case. Both Queens argue from their points of view with seeming reason, although it was manifestly SCHILLER's intention to emphasize what historians had already mooted, namely, that ELIZABETH's jealousy inspired the signature of MARY's death warrant. Cantankerous but level-headed Queen Bess. What a merry string she led the subtle LEICESTER, and yet capricious as she was my Lord BURLEIGH all the time held the winning hand. But whether it was public policy which induced ELIZABETH to pursue the rigorous measure that she did is of no moment to us. Both Queens are dust. They have settled their differences before a tribunal whose decisions are not biased by passion or by self interest. If we may not be able to decide for ourselves which was the most culpable we can at least hope that their haunts are elysian and there let us leave them to walk in peace.

CITY AND PROVINCE.

—O. E. Comstock, Caledonia, Minn., writes:—"I was suffering the most excruciating pain from inflammatory rheumatism. One application of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil afforded almost instant relief, and two bottles effected a permanent cure." •

—Among the pains and aches cured with marvellous rapidity by Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, is ear-ache. The young are especially subject to it, and the desirability of this Oil as a family remedy is enhanced by the fact that it is admirably adapted not only to the above ailment, but also to the hurts, disorders of the bowels, and affections of the throat, to which the young are especially subject. •

—If your children are troubled with worms, give them Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator; safe, sure, and effectual. Try it, and mark the improvement in your child. •

—Ill fitting boots and shoes cause corns. Holloway's Corn Cure is the article to use. Get a bottle at once and cure your corns. •

For Constipation, Sick or Bilious Headache, use Dr. Pierce's Pellets or Anti-bilious Granules. Purely vegetable. One a dose.

—What Toronto's well-known Good Samaritan says: "I have been troubled with Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint for over 20 years, and have tried many remedies, but never found an article that has done me as much good as Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure." CLARA E. PORTER. •

The board of customs decided that lithographic presses are dutiable thirty per cent. As the machines were not enumerated hitherto, ten per cent. was paid as upon printing presses.

—There is a wide difference between medicines which affect merely the symptoms of disease and those which affect its cause. The first are useful as palliatives, the second, if of genuine efficacy, produce a radical cure. To the latter class belongs Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. Thoroughness of operation is its special attribute in all cases of Biliousness, Costiveness, Indigestion, Kidney Complaints and Female Weakness. •

"His pills as thick as hand-grenades flew

was said of one of those ignorant doctors in the early times, who might well have been called the aide-de-camp of death. The sufferer from scrofula, with sores as bad as Job's, need not now curse the day he was born, for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will restore health and beauty, appetite and strength. Especially has it manifested its potency in curing salt rheum, tetters, boils, carbuncles, sore eyes, scrofulous sores and swellings, hip joint diseases, white swellings, goitre or thick neck, or enlarged glands. •

Nine Million Witches Burned!

Sprenger computes that during the Christian era no fewer than nine million witches were immolated. In England, the last execution for witchcraft took place in 1716, but in Illinois as late as 1780 to 1790, several unfortunates were put to death. This is a terrible reflection on the boasted enlightenment of the age; but we must not be over-censorious, while we daily see friends going down to death, ignorance or prejudice preventing the use of remedies which might save them. Many a cold runs into consumption, while indigestion and impure blood debilitates the system, inviting fatal attacks, when the use of Dr Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery would have ensured health and happiness. •

AYER'S PILLS. Sugar-Coated Cathartic

If the Liver becomes torpid, if the bowels are constipated, or if the stomach fails to perform its functions properly, use Ayer's Pills. They are invaluable.

For some years I was a victim to Liver Complaint, in consequence of which, I suffered from General Debility and Indigestion. A few boxes of Ayer's Pills restored me to perfect health.—W. T. Brightney, Henderson, W. Va.

For years I have relied more upon Ayer's Pills than anything else, to my bowels. These Pills are mild in action, and do their work thoroughly. I have used them, with good effect, in cases of Rheumatism and Dyspepsia.—G. F. Miller, Attleborough, Mass.

Ayer's Pills cured me of Stomach and Liver troubles, from which I had suffered for years. I consider them the best pills made, and would not be without them.—Morris Gates, Downsville, N. Y.

I was attacked with Bilious Fever, which was followed by Jaundice, and was so dangerously ill that my friends despaired of my recovery. I commenced taking Ayer's Pills, and soon regained my customary strength and vigor.—John C. Pattison, Lowell, Nebraska.

Last spring I suffered greatly from a troublesome humor on my side. In spite of every effort to cure this eruption, it increased until the flesh became entirely raw. I was troubled, at the same time, with Indigestion, and distressing pains in

The Bowels.

By the advice of a friend I began taking Ayer's Pills. In a short time I was free from pain, my food digested properly, the sores on my body commenced healing, and, in less than one month, I was cured.—Samuel D. White, Atlanta, Ga.

I have long used Ayer's Pills, in my family, and believe them to be the best pills made.—S. C. Darden, Darden, Miss.

My wife and little girl were taken with Dysentery a few days ago, and I at once began giving them small doses of Ayer's Pills, thinking I would call a doctor if the disease became any worse. In a short time the bloody discharges stopped, all pain went away, and health was restored.—Theodore Esling, Richmond, Va.

THE SEATTLE FIRE.

Scenes and Incidents During and Following the Big Blaze.

The work of rebuilding the city will be rapidly pushed. There are fourteen brick-yards within a radius of ten miles of the city, and these will run day and night.

Watch Young & Co., Chinese merchants, lost 7000 mats of rice.

The Methodist Episcopal Church was a comparatively new building.

The Oregon Improvement Company telegraphed to Port Blakley for a bill of lumber to temporarily construct coal bunkers. They will also immediately re-front on the ocean, the city and the Puget Sound railroad companies wharves. The wharves will extend out into the water, instead of along the wharf, as formerly.

Judge J. R. Lewis commenced on Monday the clearing away of the Union block ruins. It is his intention to erect a seven story building upon the site.

The Seattle cracker factory telegraphed to the east for a complete set of machinery.

Merchants are busily telegraphing for stocks. They have received many telegrams of condolence from leading merchants of San Francisco and Portland.

A man was caught stealing in Smith's jewelry store the day of the fire, and was shot at by the police. The man was seen to fall. It is not known whether he was killed or not, but the flames shortly afterwards attacked the building and it is known that he perished.

Six thousand meals were served in one day at the armory.

That section of Seattle including Washington, between South second and Third and South Fourth and Jackson streets, which has long been a plague spot in the burned city, was entirely destroyed. The lost sisterhood took to the hills, like the scarlet women of Rome.

On a crockery store just below the Union block on Second street is placed the sign "Badly Bent but Not Broken."

ELECTRIC CABLE RAILWAYS.

Captain Tuttle Says the Euphrat System Beats Everything.

Captain B. B. Tuttle, who returned to Portland from San Francisco Monday, is very enthusiastic over a car he saw in operation there, its motor power being the Euphrat electric system. To a reporter he said:

"While in San Francisco I had the pleasure of riding on a car propelled by electricity. The two systems now in use where cars are run by electricity are, by storage batteries and conducting wires, placed in conduit or air chambers underground. With the former system, each car has only storage capacity to run four hours, and the same length of time is required for recharging, so that each car has to be out of running service at least one-half of the time, to receive current every twenty four hours. With the latter system, loss of electricity and expense seem to be the main objection.

Overhead wires do not require to be insulated except at the points of support, the air, at the usual distance from the ground, being a sufficient non-conductor to prevent waste and diffusion of electricity; but when these naked wires are brought near the ground or placed under the surface, not being covered with insulating material, the waste of electricity is so great as to make the cost of using it beyond the limits of practical economy.

"The problem is claimed to be solved by the Euphrat system, by which the car I rode on was operated, which entirely dispenses with storage batteries and overhead wires, and obviates any necessity for an expensive conduit or dry air chamber underground. It affords the only practicable way yet discovered of placing effectively insulated conducting wires, of any desired length, under the street surface or inside the track rail, and supplying therefrom a direct and unbroken current of electricity to a traveling motor from a dynamo located at any point most convenient for the purpose. This is effected by an elastic insulating covering of the wires, which is provided with a slit or separable lips extending longitudinally its entire length, capable of opening to admit the passage of a moving brush or arm, and automatically closing when the brush or arm passes, thus maintaining contact with the conducting wire which is also continuously insulated.

"The friction and speed of each car can be controlled at will from either end, the driver can proceed slowly, almost imperceptibly when required, and take any desired speed to recover lost time. Each car is entirely independent of any other, and, in case any car should break down, it would not interrupt the traffic. A car disabled through accident would be pushed to the depot by the succeeding car, or can be run off to the side of the track. The independence of the motors, and expansibility of the motor power, render the Euphrat system wholly independent of horses or other reserve.

"Cars may be stopped as quickly as desired, may reverse to avoid a block, and (if derailed) can propel themselves back on the track, by means of a flexible connection between the car motor and the conductor. The motor and mechanism of a car operate noiselessly, and are concealed from view beneath the bottom of the car. The same cars which run in the streets of a city at from six to eight miles an hour, may be speeded to twenty or twenty-five miles on suburban extensions.

"In the Euphrat system the conductors are attached to the rails or are placed in an underground conduit the upper surface of which is at or near the same level as the street. The peculiar feature of the system consists in the constitution of the conductor. In one of its forms it consists of a heavy wire, surrounded by dense insulating material, in which, however there is a wire slit extending the entire width of the conductor. Around this there is a flexible insulating covering, which is also slit throughout its entire length, though in this case the slit in its normal position is closed. A moving brush that makes contact with the conducting rod in the interior of the conductor separates the lips of the outer insulating layer as it moves along, and they close together again immediately after it has passed.

"The cost of constructing and equipping a cable railway in this city ten miles long, with forty cars, would be about $500,000, while a road the same length equipped with the same number of cars operated by the Euphrat system would be only a little over $150,000. The cost of operating the cable road for one year would be about $95,000, and the Euphrat system about $25,000."

ICELAND.

Politics in the Northern Island—Important Movement.

In Iceland's political affairs an important movement has originated, namely: That of organizing a new party whose platform is separation from the Kingdom of Denmark. It is thought that a measure with this end in view will probably be introduced at the next meeting of the Icelandic Parliament and carried, as the sympathies of the people are altogether in favor of independence. Iceland has had a parliament of its own since 1845, but this body did not enjoy the power of passing laws until 1874, its mode of doing business being that of petitioning the King of Denmark, and submitting to a refusal or receiving a gracious intimation of His Majesty's pleasure to grant the requests. Since 1874 the Parliament has had the authority to enact laws, but, these have had to be sent to Denmark to receive the Royal assent or disallowance. Every year, it is said, good measures have been disallowed, though such laws were unanimously passed, and although they were regarded by the people as of great importance, yet they had to go. This state of things, the Icelander thinks, should exist no longer, and the present seems a favorable time to agitate a separation from Denmark, and the setting up of a republic. Hence it is considered likely that a new party will be formed with this object in view; some of the most influential people have taken hold of the matter, and the newspapers are advocating it editorially.

Of course, even though the parliament of Iceland were to pass unanimously a bill providing for the independence of the island, the King of Denmark might disallow it; but many think there are indications that he might decide on the opposite course. As Denmark gathers in no taxes from Iceland; and as the Icelanders have given a good deal of trouble with their agitations for liberty, while it is not convenient to grant them privileges that the Danish people themselves do not enjoy, it is thought that Denmark might look favorably upon the opportunities of getting rid of the dependency. This view is supported by the tone of the Danish government newspapers.

A separation from Denmark is looked upon by the Icelanders as sure to result in bringing their country into closer communication with the British. A good deal of commerce is carried on with the British Isles, especially with Scotland; and the connection of the island politically with Denmark is looked upon as a disadvantage commercially. Although Iceland is nominally enjoying free trade, practically the rich Danish merchants monopolize it; but of late the Icelandic merchants have risen to influence, and have cultivated trade relations with Scotland, which the people would like to see extended.

It may interest some readers to know that the Icelandic mail brings with it all the political newspapers, seven in number, published in Iceland. Of these seven one is a semi-weekly, three are weeklies and the others are fortnightly papers; there is no daily paper published in Iceland.

NO CELEBRATION.

In View of the Recent Calamities It Will Be Reported Against.

The committee of the Chamber of Commerce appointed to arrange for a Fourth of July celebration at Tacoma met on Saturday and after talking the situation over drew up the following report, which explains itself:

The Chamber of Commerce committee, appointed at the last meeting for the purpose of arranging a Fourth of July celebration, have carefully canvassed the situation, and in view of the startling and dreadful disasters which have fallen upon Johnstown and Seattle, are unanimously of the opinion that it would not be becoming in the citizens of Tacoma to inaugurate a season of festivity and rejoicing while so many of our fellow-citizens are mourning the loss of life and property; and that the funds so generously contributed by the citizens of Tacoma are an earnest of the above sentiment. We, therefore, as a committee, recommend that the proposed celebration be dispensed with, and will so report to the Chamber of Commerce at its next regular meeting.

NEWS OF THE WIRES.

Morning Dispatches Condensed—European and American News.

The Prince of Montenegro has ordered that the army of Montenegro be immediately reorganized and put in readiness for active service at the shortest notice.

Lord Mayor Sexton, of Dublin, has sent a communication to the Mayor of Cork, requesting that official to co-operate with him in raising a fund for the relief of the sufferers of Johnstown and other stricken towns in Conemaugh valley.

It was decided in San Francisco to send $10,000 to Seattle, and more, if necessary, matters in future to rest with the executive committee.

News was brought to Tuscon, A. T., this morning of the killing of two white men, 150 miles southeast of Hermosillo, Sonora, a few days ago by Apache Indians. The killing was done in Sabuaripa canyon, in the Sierra Madre mountains.

M.M. Laguerre, Laisant and Deroulede, who were arrested for resisting the authorities at Angouleme on Sunday, on the occasion of the prohibition of the Boulangist meeting there, were placed on trial at that place yesterday. The charge against them is that of rioting and threatening the police.

The American vessels Trenton and Vandalia, which were wrecked at Samoa last March, have been abandoned by the Government, and their names will be stricken from the navy list. All the valuables of both vessels, including the batteries, have been recovered, and are now en route to San Francisco on the steamship Alameda.

It is reported at St. Petersburg that the Shah of Persia, during his visit to the Czar, entered into a secret treaty, temporarily annexing the northern portion of Persia to the Russian empire, in the event of certain contingencies happening which is defined in the treaty.

The Argentine Republic.

In May, 1853, the provinces of the Rio de la Plata constituted themselves the Argentine Republic, Buenos Ayres joining the confederacy in 1860. The executive is in the hands of a six-years president (Celman) and the legislative in a congress of two houses. The constitution is almost identical with that of the United States, and although it recognizes the Catholic religion as that of the state, all other creeds are tolerated. Great attention is paid to public education, $3,467,240 having been contributed by the state for that purpose in 1886, in which year there were 3028 elementary schools, with 6241 teachers and 227,450 pupils.

The public revenue is derived largely from customs duties, some of which are very heavy. The estimates for 1888 were $53,743,800 revenue and $51,891,255 expenditure. On March 31, 1888, the debt of the Republic was: Internal, $47,1000,000; foreign, $92,427,000; floating, $7,997,880. The external debt is largely diminished during the present year.

The army comprises 7000 combatants, besides which there is a militia of 236,000 men and a reserve of 68,000. The navy consists of 1 sea-going iron clad, 2 armored central battery ships, 2 coast defense monitors, 1 cruiser, 7 gunboats, 2 transports, 7 dispatch boats and 5 torpedo boats, manned by 1300 officers and men.

The population of the fourteen provinces and nine territories embraced in the republic was in 1887 officially estimated at 3,894,995, living in a territory of 1,125,086 square miles. The increase of population during the last six years has been greatly due to immigration, nearly 700,000 immigrants, chiefly from the south of Europe, have arrived in that time. In 1887 the imports amounted to $117,352,000, the chief articles being textiles and clothes, food substances, iron and manufactures and drinks. The exports in the same year were $84,421,000, chiefly of wool, hides and skins, maize, preserved meat, live animals, flax and wheat. The trade was mainly with the foreign countries in the order named: England, France, Germany, Belgium, United States, Uruguay, Italy, Spain, Brazil and Paraguay. Of the 4,471,601 tons which entered the republic's ports and 3,725,969 which cleared in 1887, 80 per cent was British, 16 French and 7 Italian.

An increasing area is being devoted to agriculture (4,700,000 acres, 1888), the total value of the agricultural products in 1887 being $70,000,000. The length of railroads open in 1888 was 4,700 miles, that of telegraphic lines in operation 14,700 miles.

THE BRITISH COLUMBIA FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY.

TAKES RISKS ON THE CASH OR MUTUAL PLANS.

As this is a Home Company, organized by British Columbians for the two-fold purpose of giving cheap insurance and keeping the money in this Province, it commends itself to the support of every insurer desiring the prosperity of this country. In Ontario, the system of insurance, which is similar to that adopted by this Company, has been in highly successful operation for the past fifty years, and it has proved to be a great advantage to every insurer in it, by reducing the cost of insurance, and it is estimated that now three-fourths of the insurance effected in Ontario is carried by mutual companies.

—Mr. C. E. Riggins, Beamsville, writes, "A customer who tried a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery says it is the best thing he ever used; to quote his own words, 'It just seemed to touch the spot affected.' About a year ago he had an attack of bilious fever, and was afraid he was in for another, when I recommended this valuable medicine with such happy results."

—A number of German, Dutch, Swedish and Scotch emigrants passed through the city last night for Tacoma. The Scotch emigrants, who were booked for Tacoma, were under the impression that the city of destiny was in British Columbia, and as they desired to settle in British territory, their chagrin may be imagined when they learned, on coming over on the Islander, that they were ticketed for Mr. Turner's country.

Dr. Childs Pile Ointment

Instantly relieves and permanently cures piles, pruritus and all hot and itching sores and eruptions. Price, $1, of druggists. daw

Temperance Gathering.

A large number of members of Perseverance Lodge, No. 1, I.O.G.T., will picnic this evening at Sailor Bay. The party will leave Jones' boat house at 7 o'clock.

Accepts.

Mr. A. Haslem has assented to the requisition presented to him, and will become a candidate for election in Nanaimo on the independent ticket. Mr. Haslem is a popular gentleman and will get a strong support. He is, we believe, the first candidate to publicly announce himself. The nomination is held on the 14th and polling takes place on the 21st.

Immigrants.

Six hundred male and female Scandinavian immigrants arrived from the east last night via the C. P. R., and took the Sound steamer this morning for Tacoma, in the vicinity of which place many intend settling. There were many comely women in the party and all told filled the cabin of the steamer Potter. The men were a sturdy looking set and all appeared to have means.

Summons Issued.

Seven or eight Indians belonging to sealing schooner Letitia, now lying in harbor, have been summoned to appear in the Provincial Police Court charged with stealing copper, etc., from the old hulk "Otter."

A Chinaman has laid a charge against an employee of the Corporation, charging the latter with assaulting him on the Saanich road. The case will come up to-morrow.

A Tonsorial Brochure.

THE TIMES is in receipt of a neat scroll containing the lithographs of the rear parts of the heads of two young gentlemen who have had their hair cut. This pictorial representation is reinforced by between thirty and forty rules to be observed by the patrons of tonsorial saloons, these, the off-springs of Mr. Frank Schenk, of Kamloops, a barber of high degree. The rules are put to the multifarious abuses perpetrated by thoughtless patrons of the barber shop. Their phraseology is antique after the Biblical style, and the points made, if pointed, are good humored. Mr. Schenk evidently has a keen perception of the idiosyncrasies of his fellow creatures, and he seems to wield the pen with as much facility as he does the shears. Mr. Schenk evidently is qualified to perform the onerous duties of the wretched reporter.

The Champion.

H. M. S. Champion was six days out from San Francisco at 4 o'clock this afternoon and there was no signs of her then. The passengers of the Walla Walla saw nothing of her. The Champion is a sister ship to H. M. S. Calliope, which escaped through the Samoan hurricane, and can steam 15 knots per hour. It is probable she is sailing up against unfavorable winds and will most likely arrive within twenty-four hours.

Big Gun Practice.

Her Majesty's fleet returned to Esquimalt about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon from successful gunnery practice in the straits. There was firing from the 9 inch twelve ton guns of the Swiftsure at buoys while the vessel was steaming at the rate of eight knots per hour, which showed wonderful precision on the part of the gunners. The Amphion and Icarus acquitted themselves to the satisfaction of the Admiral and the manœuvres on the whole were fully up to the standard.

Funeral.

The funeral of the late John Stuart Macdonald, Peruvian consul of Oregon, took place this morning at 9 o'clock from the Roman Catholic cathedral, Rev. Father Mandart officiating at the Mass and at the grave at Ross Bay Cemetery. Flowers were contributed by the children of the Anglican Floral Society. The pall bearers were: Col. Stevens, U. S. Consul; Edgar Marvin, U. S. Vice-Consul; Chas. Gabriel, Japanese Consul; T. Deasy, Chief Engineer, V. F. D.; T. J. Burnes, and J. Walsh.

How Goes the Weather?

Very hot weather is reported in the interior of the province during the past few days. On enquiry THE TIMES learns that it was 100° in the shade at Yale on Monday, 90° at Revelstoke, 92° at Sicamous, 90° at Kamloops, and 94° at Donald. In this city, Mr. Frank Campbell, bulletin editor, reports 80° in the shade as the highest reached by the mercury this year. On Monday, the 2nd inst, it rose to 80° about 11:30 o'clock, fell to 76° an hour later, and then rose to 80° again about 1 o'clock. On these two occasions only has it been so high.

Dr. Garrow.

Dr. J. K. Garrow has taken an office in the brick building at the corner of Government and Johnson streets, over Erskine's shoe store, with a view of practicing in this city. The doctor is no stranger, having been a resident of the province for several years. Between 1883 and '87 he practiced in New Westminster, leaving in the latter year for the old country where he attended the hospitals of Edinburgh and London for over a year. Fortified thus with years of study and experience, the doctor will soon command a large practice in this city.

To Leave To-Night.

Sir Leonard Tilley, Dr. Bayard and Mr. Leonard Tilley, Jr., will leave for their home in the beautiful province of New Brunswick to-night. The party will depart on the Islander and on arriving at Vancouver will proceed by train to New Westminster. They will remain at the Royal City up to the time of the departure of the Atlantic express. Sir Leonard finds his health greatly benefitted by the change of climate and is delighted with Victoria. He says he could not have enjoyed anything more than his visit to this city.

A Sudden Death.

A very sudden death occurred in the city this morning at two o'clock. At that hour George S. Carrier, residing on Church Hill, awakened his wife by making a noise as if strangling. Mrs. Carrier arose, and finding that her husband was ill, immediately summoned medical assistance, but before any could arrive the vital spark had fled. The deceased was a native of the State of Massachusetts, and 48 years of age. He arrived in the city about a year ago to represent American capitalists, and being of a social disposition made many acquaintances during his sojourn here. He was a stout looking man, whose end appeared by no means near. The funeral will take place from the late residence, Church Hill, to-morrow, Thursday, at 2:30 p.m.

The Behring Sea War.

The American navy it appears will not all go to Behring Sea no more than the North Pacific squadron. The United States man-of-war Adams is ready for sea but a California dispatch says: Contrary to the published reports, she will not go to Behring Sea with instructions in regard to the enforcement of the proclamation of the President, but the commander of the ship has orders to proceed to Honolulu, and he will then be under the direction of the commanding officer of the Pacific squadron.

The U. S. revenue cutter Bear has proceeded to the north. She has on board building material for the Point Barrow relief station and men who will stay at the station. She will, it is said, after landing supplies, etc., cruise in the Arctic. The prospects of a Behring Sea war this year appears to be growing like a lady's waist, gradually small and beautifully less.

The Social Evil.

At the opening of the police court this morning His Honor Judge Richards, referred to the presence at entertainments of the Demi Monde. His Honor said he attended the performance given in the Victoria Theatre last evening and noticed that these women were occupying prominent positions in the building. During the celebration on Beacon Hill a large number of these women were present. He did not know who was to blame for this state of things but the time has arrived when it should be stopped. If these women continue to exhibit themselves in public places they should be brought up in the police court. If the police reported that they were causing a nuisance by appearing in public places they would be imprisoned without the option of a fine. Last evening a woman was in a prominent seat who was fined in the police court a short time ago. The remarks of the magistrate were very pointed.

PERSONAL.

Items Telling of Movements of Well Known Persons.

Judge Bickerton and Mr. W Smith, of Honolulu, who have been in the east, arrived on the Islander last night and leave to-night for San Francisco and Honolulu.

James Orr, M. P. P., came over from Vancouver last night and will return to-morrow.

Captian Tatlow, the real estate man, came over from Vancouver last night.

Judge R. F. Bickerton, of the Supreme Court of the Hawaiian Kingdom, and Mr. H. M. Benson, a leading druggist of Honolulu, arrived from the east on the Islander last evening. Judge Bickerton visited Victoria in the bustling times of 1863 and naturally found a great change in the condition of things since then. The Judge on that occasion stopped at the old St. Nicholas Hotel and found some difficulty in locating the hostelry which had sheltered him. He had a faint suspicion that it was the present Delmonico, and on inquiry found that his surmises were correct. Like all Hawaiian business men who have come to see us the visitors are affable, every-day kind of people like one wishes to meet with. They leave to-morrow for the Sound.

Mr. Watts and Mr. John Croft came down from Cowichan Lake to-day.

Miss Macaulay, Birdcage Walk, left last night for St. Paul, where she will remain some time.

Miss Laidlaw, of Toronto, who has been visiting in Victoria for some months, leaves to-night for Vancouver en route for Ontario.

Lieut.-Governor Nelson, Mrs. Nelson, Sir Leonard Tilley, Dr. Bayard, Mr. Leonard Tilley Jr., and Private Secretary Stanton occupied a seat in the parquette at the performance of the Modjeska company last evening.

Captain Scott and wife, picked up at sea some weeks ago and brought to Esquimalt, will leave for England in a day or two.

Baptist Church Concert.

The church choir gave a very interesting concert last evening in aid of the choir fund. The church was not as full as it might have been, but other attractions considered, was as good as could have been expected. The concert was opened by Prof. Sharpe with a selection on the new Estey organ, which was somewhat marred by a cypher on the sub-bass which prevented that stop being used. The choir sang well, "Praise waiteth for thee;" in fact all the choruses were well given. Mr. Howell gave "The Old Sexton" in good style, his voice being good in the lower register, although rather light in the upper. Mrs. Turnbull sang, "At the Ferry" and "When the tide comes in" in her usual style. Mr. Kent gave "Calvary" in his old time voice; this was a good effort and deservedly encored. Although there is nothing very interesting in the duet, "No hope beyond," yet Messrs. Stevenson and Howell acquitted themselves well and were encored. Prof. Sharpe substituted a song for his second organ solo, "Will he come," which was encored. Mr. Stevenson sang "The Lost Chord" creditably, although the song is evidently not suited to his voice. Mr. Brown gave a fine solo, "Glory to God," which was really the best of the second part. "Chiming bells of long ago," was the last number on the programme and was done justice to by the choir. Although the funds taken cannot have been very large, the Baptist Church choir can congratulate themselves upon a musical success.

Mary Stuart.

The "scarlet woman," as Knox called her, as represented by Modjeska last night, was a strong impersonation. Mary was presented with the shadow of death hanging over her, and whatever may have been our opinion of the acts which led up to the culmination of her tragic end, our hearts went out in pity to her. If we thought Modjeska rendered well the subtle Rosalind, we find her as the impersonator of a stricken queen apparently in her element. Mary, we think, would have approved of it herself. Nor was the character of the proudest, most imperious and withal the shrewdest of England's queens scarcely less better delineated by Mrs. Bates. She might have overdone the thing a little, although if she did we may regard it as excusable for Elizabeth's vanity is so monumentally excessive that it is difficult to avoid burlesquing her. The gem of the evening as a feature of good acting and as a portrayal of the feminine character was in the scene where the two Queen's meet, and here Mrs. Bates' Elizabeth is as good as Modjeska's Mary. Passing on to the notables which danced attendance to these somewhat high tempered crowned heads, Burleigh seems to have been represented a good deal as Hume painted him, cool headed, loyal, and implacable. We also recognize the Leicester of history. My Lord Leicester was smooth indeed. But we need not enlarge on this subject. Modjeska is an artist and her support are scarcely less entitled to that peculiar distinction. We could wish that Modjeska was one of Victoria's stock attractions.

LICENSING COURT.

(Before His Worship Mayor Grant, Hon. A.N. Richards, Q. C., Police Magistrate, Aldermen J. B. Harrison, N. Shakespeare, J. P., and R. B. McMicking, J. P.)

In opening the court, His Worship said the Licensing Court would proceed in accordance with the new Municipalities Act under which it was imperative that a member of the Board of Aldermen should occupy a seat on the Bench with three Justices of the Peace. The absence of a number of Justices was commented on, and His Worship considered that the court should adjourn until Friday next to give the Justices an opportunity to be in attendance.

Mr. Theo. Davie considered that the court was a perfectly constituted body and a great deal of inconvenience would be the result of an adjournment.

His Honor, Judge Richards, said according to the Act the two senior magistrates appearing at the meeting of the court would be members of the Board.

His Worship said a notice appeared in the newspapers stating that a meeting of the Board would be held to-day. He did not consider it proper to personally advise any member of the Board to be present. Three members of the present Board were connected with the Corporation, viz: The Mayor, Magistrate, and Alderman, and it would only be fair to have at least three Justices of the Peace on the Bench.

The court decided to adjourn until noon on Friday next.

Mrs. Andrews, Mrs. Grant and Mrs. Burkholder, members of the W. C. T. U., were present and handed in a petition praying that the Board would refuse to issue new licenses.

SECOND COMING OF CHRIST.

Synopsis of the Discourse Given at the Gospel Tent Last Night.

"And there shall be signs in the sun, and in the moon and in the stars, and upon the earth distress of nations, with perplexity; the sea and the waves roaring; men's hearts failing them for fear and for looking after those things which are coming on the earth; for the powers of heaven shall be spoken. And then shall they see the Son of Man coming in a cloud with power and great glory. And when these things begin to come to pass, then look up, and lift up your heads, for your redemption draweth nigh. And he spoke to them a parable, behold the fig tree, and all the trees; when they now shoot forth, ye see and know of your own selves that summer is now nigh at hand. So likewise ye, when ye see these things come to pass, know ye that the Kingdom of God is nigh at hand. Verily I say unto you, this generation shall not pass away till all be fulfilled."—Luke 21,25-32.

This defines clearly the position we hold on the subject of the second advent. There are two extreme views taken on this subject, neither of which is correct. One class professes to know so much about it as to be able to tell the year, the month, and even the day; hence we have seen repeated failures in time setting. Such are wise above what is written. We firmly believe in the words of our Saviour: "No man knoweth the day nor the hour."

But another position, and by far the most positive one, is that we cannot know anything about it, that nothing is revealed concerning it, and that when it does come it will be without warning, like a clap of thunder from a clear sky at noonday. We often hear people say: "Christ may come to-night, or it may be ten thousand years before his coming. We know nothing about it."

If this be true, it will be contrary to all of God's dealings in the past. He never yet sent a great judgment on the earth without a warning; and we cannot believe that the greatest event the world has ever seen, will come unheralded. The language of our text is in answer to the question of the disciples, who asked for a sign of his coming. How easy it would have been for Christ to say: "Don't trouble yourselves about; no one can know within ten thousand years." But no! He says: "There shall be signs;" and then proceeds to tell what they are, and where they will be located.

Now what is the sign? You go down street, and you see over a door, in large letters, a man's name and his business. The grocer, the baker, the druggist, the dry-goods dealer, and even the saloon—all have their signs. What for? To be seen and read, and to let people know what business is being carried on within. So the Lord says he will hang out signs, and tell us where they may be seen. What then? "Know that the Kingdom of God is nigh at hand." Somebody will see the signs, and know what they mean. The sun was darkened May 19, 1780, the moon the following night; and the stars of heaven fell Nov. 13, 1833. When the Lord comes there will be those living who saw the stars fall about fifty-six years ago. Not one sign is wanting. God's word can never fail. The day of the Lord is at hand.

Subject for to-night—The Vision of Daniel Seven.
